ISLAND KRK
THE LARGEST ISLAND
IN THE ADRIATIC

Located in the northern part of the Croatian coast, Krk is the closest island to Central Europe. The island is connected to the mainland by the "Krčki most" bridge (constructed in 1980) and by the airport in Omišalj. The island Krk is a unique travel destination, which can quickly be reached from all directions. A mild and pleasant climate with many sunny days in a year, lush Mediterranean vegetation and the crystal clear sea attract a great number of tourists every year. The manifold entertainment possibilities and a rich offer of various sports and recreational activities provide ideal pre-conditions for an active holiday in the pristine nature.

Krk is an island with vast historical heritage. The first settlements date back to the prehistoric era. In the past centuries the island was ruled by the Illyrians, Romans, Venetians, Slavs, Frankopan noble family and many others. We should not omit the Baska stone tablet (Bašćanska ploča) in the Jurandvor village, which is written in Glagolitic alphabet. - it is the birthplace of the Croatian script and also boasts the Franciscan monastery on the Košljun islet, a well-preserved mediaeval centre of the city of Krk, as well as important cultural and historical sights.

The tourism on the Krk island has a hundred years old tradition and today it represents the cornerstone of economic activities. At the same time, it should be emphasised that Krk is the only island in Croatia that enjoys a growing number of tourists every year.

From the above mentioned facts we can conclude that the Krk island fully deserves the attribute "Golden Island".

The additional services include: TV room, HotSpot – wireless Internet connection, Internet corner, stand with newspapers, souvenirs and beach accessories, massage parlour, agency selling optional trips.
